J Club Members: Past, Present, and Future
Arlington Heights High School
Fort Worth, Texas

Dear Honored Jackets:

We the Staff of the 1953 Yellow Jacket salute you, the leaders of greater A.H.H.S. Used as the theme of this book, your motto of "Leadership, Scholarship, and Service" is a challenge to all of us.

This yearbook is a tribute, an expression of our appreciation of a group which represents all the high ideals, fine aspirations, and worthy goals for which we are striving. May they ever be the yardstick by which Heights and Heightsters are measured!

Sincerely yours,

The 1953 Yellow Jacket Staff

Your enthusiastic participation in the scholastic and activity programs of the school has resulted in significant achievements in leadership, scholarship, and service.

Preserved in the pages of your 1953 Yellow Jacket is a record of many of these achievements. It is our hope that your accomplishments will serve as a challenge to other students as AHHS presses on toward even higher standards.

To those of you who will soon graduate and whose paths will separate, may we express the hope that you will return often to "the school on the hill."

Sincerely,

Boys: Nelson Stubblefield, Freddie Russell, Roland Jary, and Joe Matthews.

A

A IS FOR ATHLETICS. Well, fellow, now that you've earned your letter in a sport at Heights, perhaps you'd like to join the A Club.

The A Club is the only organization at Heights that you can't just join or be elected into; for to get in, you have to submit to paddling from the returning lettermen in your sport, which is only a warm-up! If you are lucky enough to letter in more than one sport, you get that many more licks, after which you must endure all sorts of pranks at initiation, gleefully devised by those selfsame lettermen.

Officers of A Club are Byron Searcy, president; Vance Bridges, vice president; Buzz Kemble, secretary-treasurer; and Maurice Jones, sergeant-at-arms.

MEMBERS

F. T. A.

"WURRA! WURRA!" exclaimed the little gnome holding his high-school diploma. This little fellow did have something to worry about, for he didn't know what he was going to do now that he had graduated.

Perk up, feller! Be like the senior, junior, and sophomore members of the Eula F. Hunter Chapter of the Future Teachers of America Club. Just run right on to college, study hard, and someday you will be teaching little voices to sing a stirring song, such as "Good Morning to You-u-u !"

Fun, fulfillment, and a purpose to progress characterize AHHS's FTA Club, co-sponsored by Miss Eula Hunter and Mr. Harry Wylie. Officers are: president, Nancy Forman; vice-president, Lillian Jones; secretary-treasurer, Gail Ellsworth.

D.E.'rs MAKE MONEY WHILE LEARNING. Highlighting this year were the All-City picnic last fall and the Christmas party. To climax the year Arlington Heights sent Jean Mirike and Trevelyn Lindley as their representatives to the annual D. E. Convention held in San Antonio. Sue Bowlin captured top honors in a national essay contest with her topic, "Selling as a Career."

Officers of the club are Kenneth Padgett, president, Charles Stewart, Trevelyn Lindley, Larry Mercer, and sponsor, Miss Galen Porter.

CUB REPORTERS

CUBS LEARN NEWSPAPER ROPES. Learning the ropes of newspaper work are the 21 future scribes in the Cub Reporters Club. During meetings these members study rules and terms used in journalism and great newspaper personalities and write featurettes.

Cub reporters also sell ads for special editions of the Jacket Journal, write features, and are constantly on the alert for news. Climax of their efforts is the awarding of Cub pins to the best all-round reporters at the annual Quill and Scroll banquet.

Club officers are Gail Norris, Gretchen Chappell, Mary Beth Moriarty, and John Willett. Sponsor is Miss Gussie Burnett.

FOOTLIGHTERS

The Drama Club . . . Footlight Players, that is,
Started the year full of bubble and fizz.
Our President, Gwen, fairly pushed matters to Her staff: Dorothy, Diana, and Evan Black, too.
Took bull by horns, built a new constitution,
And next on the agenda . . . finding a solution
To the problem at hand—what to call our big show
Nobody Sleeps and Jacob Comes Home, you know.
Mr. White threatened, cajoled, begged, and pleaded.
Pulled out his hair 'til his poor scalp, it bleeded.
But at last, it came off—the play, we mean.
We opened the curtains for the first scene,
Then settled down with a sigh of relief
To enjoy the show. Gwen said, in brief,
"You've done a good job; now look at this text,"
And quoted Carl Sandburg, "Where to? What next?"

LIBRARY

BOOK-LEARNING'S A MUST. "Books are paths that upward lead. Come on, Heightsters. It's fun to read!"

Heights' library is the center for reference, study, and reading for pleasure. Although a quiet atmosphere prevails, underneath lies the business of decorating the library showcase, keeping shelves in order, and numerous other duties performed daily by Mrs. Luella Higley and her 12 library assistants. The club is headed by Carolyn Thomas, president, and Suzy Simpson, Betty Baldridge, Jo Carol Dodd, and Susie Allen.

WHEN IN ROME. "All together now. Let's hit it with great exuberance." Hic, haec, hoc."

Rome was never like this, but the 19 members of Heights' Latin Club, sponsored by Miss Grace Boone, have discovered that there was more to the Romans than Caesar and Mark Antony.

Guiding the club are Mary Ann Preston, president, Jimmy Murphy and Mignon Bevil.

"The club's purpose is the divertisement of its members," states Miss Boone, "but perhaps it will also foster an interest in languages, history, philosophy, archaeology—or at least the next day's Latin assignment!"

LANGUAGE

WE TRAVEL BY MAGIC CARPET. Would you like to take a no-cost tour across the wide Atlantic to romantic Spain or gay Paree? When blustery winds whip around your home, what would you give to be living in the sunny clime of Mexico?

This year, 38 Spanish and French students have taken all of these travels and had many adventures high in the Pyrenees, touring France, and exploring ancient Aztec ruins, via the magic carpet of languages.

Adding anecdotes from her own experiences in these countries, Mrs. Norma Wells, club sponsor, has shown officers Bobetta Holland, Pat Keith, Diane McFarland, and Diane Carter, that the magic of languages is a key to the romance and history of all peoples.

ROD & GUN

"QUACK, QUACK! CAW, CAW! BANG, BANG!" are the familiar noises of the crow hunt, quail conservation project, trap shooting, and club outing of the Rod and Gun Club, which prove that in the spring, a young man's fancy turns to hunting.

The officers of the club, Robert Austin, Bill L. Lamb, Gene Adair, and Bo Wilbanks, are carrying out their program, the original objectives of the club, that of the city, county, and state conservation programs. Mr. Johnny Stovall, as sponsor, teaches the boys correct care of guns and fellow-men around the guns.

SCIENCE

CALLING ALL SCIENTISTS! Do you yearn to be another Mr. Peepers, breathing sulphur fumes and formaldehyde while delving into the mysteries of biology, minerology, physics, radio electronics, and astronomy?

Heights' Science Club, headed by Mr. Flavin Arseneau, hasn't produced a Mr. Peepers yet, but its 49 members, such as officers, John Vaille, Jim Sykora, Beverly Tobin, and Nan Arbuckle, have made interesting studies in five fields of science. A moon map and scrapbook, frog skeletons and slides, rock specimens—even a ham radio are a few of the club's projects, some of which were exhibited at the Press Civitan Show in March.

AHHS BAND

BLOW GABRIEL, BLOW! Though most people think it's a good policy not to toot your own horn, the Jacket band members have contradicted this addage and put their talents to good use.

Beginning the year with a relatively inexperienced group, the band has now worked itself into a fine organization, performing equally well on the concert stage or the marching field.

The Abilene-Heights football game marked the band's first public appearance this year. Eight other games in quick succession kept the aggregation busy learning half-time shows and new music to entertain Heights followers. The Jacket band also made a recording of pep songs, the alma mater, and Heights Boogie, which they made available to the student body.

Following the football season, the Jacket band began its concert appearances by performing at Stripling Jr. High and playing for the ground breaking ceremonies for the Children's Museum. Then came preparation for the contest in Waurika, Oklahoma. The band was entered in four divisions, concert playing, sight reading, marching, and individual solos and ensembles. The soloists and ensembles got a chance to appear before the public prior to the Waurika trip, at the All-City Solo and Ensemble night in the Heights auditorium.

A spring concert and several public appearances wrote finis to a successful year for the Jacket band.

CHORUS

"DRY BONES" TO "WHITE CHRISTMAS," the Arlington Heights Chorus, directed by Mrs. Mary Smith White, entertained at the choral clinic, Christmas assembly, All-City Chorus, Highland Park Festival, baccalaureate, and graduation exercises.

The officers, Reid Bunger, Joe Turner, Jan Goodman, and Kay Lynch, kept the piano tuned and voices trained to that high "A," which resulted in the vast amount of pleasing songs for fellow students and visitors throughout the year.

ORCHESTRA

PIANO TO PICCOLO, the Arlington Heights Orchestra played in full swing for Stripling, Monnig, and AHHS. The year's activities brought forth the orchestra for P.T.A., open house, Christmas program, Footlighter's plays, and completed the season with the graduation exercises.

The orchestra played by request at the Dallas State Fair and was treated with two banquets and an open house. Their second trip was to the Annual Competition Festival at Denton, where the orchestra captured the first and highest award offered by the Interscholastic League of Music.

Y-TEENS

TEXAS TREASURE CHEST OPENED

Having as its purpose to promote friendship among girls in this high school and other schools throughout their community, the Y-Teen organization is a high school branch of the Y.W.C.A.

Carrying out the three points of their symbol, the triangle, Y-Teens this year have heard entertaining as well as inspirational talks on the Y-Teen as a high school girl, physically, mentally, and spiritually. Striving for world brotherhood, several girls from our club, along with some from I. M. Terrell presented a skit on the founding of the Y.W.C.A. for other high schools.

Working hard to prove their usefulness as a service organization, Y-Teens gathered together usable clothes for needy families in a city-wide clothes drive.

This year the Y-Teens have sponsored several social activities, including a get-acquainted party honoring new members in the fall and the annual coke party and picnic honoring the new officers in the spring.

JUNIOR HISTORIANS

"WE SERVE," OUR MOTTO

Vigorously flaunting the theory that the only persons interested in the past are stodgy greybeards, the Arlington Heights Junior Historians have undertaken to preserve and study the treasure-chest of Texas history.

After diligent research in archives of the public library and private records, the Junior Historians flooded the Texas Historical Society with well-prepared essays, themes, maps, and statistics.

Each of the 45 members to maintain eligibility in the club contributed some form of work pertaining to local history. Robert Courter and Jimmy Neely prepared a map graphically illustrating the origin of the streets of Fort Worth.

The year's officers, who directed interesting biweekly programs and planned a bus jaunt to historical landmarks, are Dale Edmonds, president; Robert Courter, secretary; Ann Denny, vice president; and Phyllis Cozby, treasurer.

Miss Kathryn Garrett contributed her immense knowledge of Texas folklore and history to her duties as sponsor of the Junior Historians.

ALLIED YOUTH

AY MAKES 'TEXAS BRAGS'

You know you can always tell a Texan, but you cannot tell him much. It is his place to brag because he usually has something to brag about. One of our brags here at Heights is our A. Y. post. Heights is not a big school, but it goes out for quality, not quantity. Thus we can hold our heads high and say with an air of accomplishment . . . we are the fifth largest Allied Youth Post in the United States! And only two years old! Well, a Texan is usually asked a lot of questions about his brags, as why does a school the size of Heights have such enthusiastic backing of its post? (Of our 900 students, 316 are members, an increase over last year of nearly 300 per cent.)

We have members who have a knack of making people take notice, such as the AY male beauty contestants. We have members who unselfishly give their time to the organization, such as the three Heighsters who made the long trip to the annual AY convention at Buckhill Falls, Pennsylvania, Kitty Bit Mims, Ken Cooper, and Buddy Martin. And all our members give their whole-hearted support to the officers: Vance Bridges, president; Rob Roark, vice-president; Ann Brightwell, secretary; and Judy Cone, treasurer.

spirit high at heights

School Spirit—that intangible force that makes Heights distinctive. Although athletic fortunes rise and fall, the famed Heights Spirit continues to be the constant, ever improving factor which raises the coaches' and players' morale when the going gets rough. The Yellow Jacket Spirit is recognized by opponents, local and throughout Texas, both for its magnitude and its sportsmanlike tones.

Each year the student body elects four girls and four boys to tipify and lead the Spirit of the students. This quality is conceived within, and dependent upon, each individual student for its existence.

Student interest and athletic improvement have developed hand in hand at Heights, as a glance at the ever growing list of athletic achievements will testify. Down through the years, Heights Spirit has swelled as firmly in defeat as in victory, a credit to Blue and Gold from whence it rises. This is truly a tradition of Heights . . . to boost the coaches and team as the "twelfth man."

resume

Arlington Heights 1952 football campaign was marked by hard fought encounters with the state's finest teams, and the Jackets emerged with a record of five wins and five losses.

Meeting undoubtedly the toughest schedule in Blue and Gold history, the Yellow Jackets suffered pre-season losses to Abilene, Austin, Temple, and Highland Park, but managed a 19-13 victory over Dallas' Sunset. Entering city play as solid favorites, their title hopes were shattered at the hands of North Side, 13-7, on Halloween night. Coached by N. J. Hogan and Johnny Stovall, the gridmen won four other conference games, highlighting their season with a resounding 24-0 Homecoming victory over Paschal.

Individual standouts were many, including Byron Searcy, who received the John Hanrahan award for the team's best linesman, Maurice Jones, Ronny White, Norman Ashley, and George Nelson. Injuries to all-state Buzz Kemble were a decisive factor in the fortunes of the team.

Looking back, we see that 1952 produced a really great team of boys, whose unrelenting spirit will not soon be forgotten at Heights.

"a" team

On this page are forty-seven boys who have worked for countless hours to produce a successful football team with which Arlington Heights may be justly proud. Twenty-two seniors have donned the Blue and Gold for their last time. The remaining juniors have gained valuable experience for grid plans for next fall.

Led by Coach N. J. Hogan and Coach Nick Ruggieri, they compiled five wins against five losses, finishing second in city competition.

The 1952-53 Heights Basketball team opened their season with a series of impressive pre-conference victories, then floundered when confronted by the extra-tough conference schedule. Their 11-5 record against mediocre pre-season opposition caused, perhaps, too much to be expected of them in the dog-eat-dog city chase. The roundballers emerged with two district wins and seven losses, three of the losses to teams they had defeated previously. Many outstanding, spirited performers emerged, including George Shaw, William Jennings, Bill Lamb, Nelson Stubblefield, Byron Searcy, Gene Adair, and Floyd Wade.

Under the guidance of Johnny Stovall, the 1953 track team exhibited fine all-around strength and dexterity. With the first signs of spring they began workouts, anticipating an excellent showing in the city meet in April. The efforts of Coach Stovall to improve the condition of the AHHS track were a main factor in the team's success. Rob Roark, regional high jump winner, was elected team captain.

The Yellow Jacket golfers spent long hours on the fairways preparing for the city tournament held in mid-April. In the Southwest Recreation meet at Meadowbrook, which attracted statewide entrees, Ronnie Honeycutt seized medalist honors and led the team to a sixth place finish. The six-man team traveled to Brownwood in March, and also engaged in matches with the TCU freshmen.

baseball

Hampered by lack of overall experience and a scarcity of power hitters, the AHHS baseballers compiled an unimpressive pre-conference record, and hoped for better fortunes in league play April 7-May 8. One of the real mainstays of the 1953 nine was their catcher—hustling, redhead Joe Johnson. Other top performers were George Nelson, Vance Bridges, Roy Menge, and Al Blakes.

Tennis teamsters, under the direction of Coach Roy Williams and Miss Fran Hicks, engaged in competition with various school teams in preparation for the city tournament held April 13 through 16. They often played strong out-of-town teams who came in conjunction with track meets held at Farrington Field. Senior Bill Davis, the remaining half of a regional finalist doubles team, is the only returning letterman among the netters.

boy's intramurals

Boys in the three physical education classes participated in a varied, exciting intramural program under the supervision of Coach Johnny Stovall. The boys played touch football, basketball, volleyball, soccer, track, and softball. One of the highlights of the year was the exciting track meet held in mid-March, in which many excellent performances were posted.

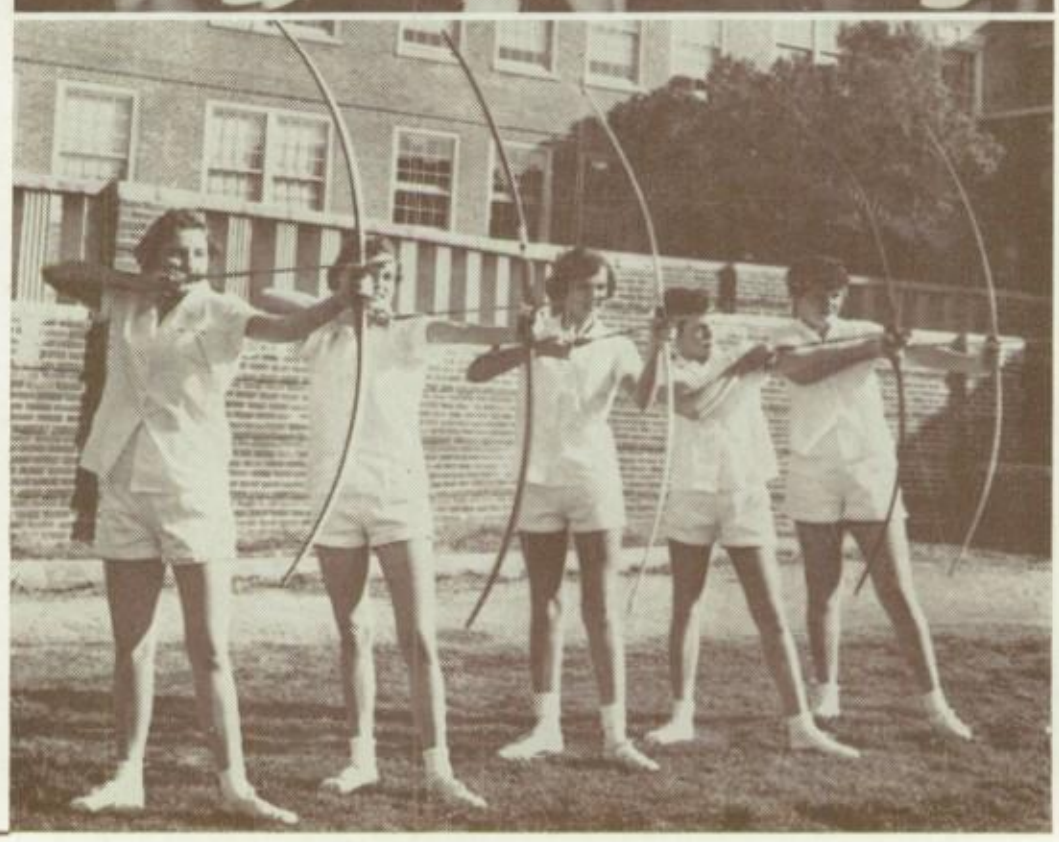
girl's intramurals

Under the direction of Miss Fran Hicks and Mrs. Anita Jones, the girls physical education classes had a full and varied program this year.

The top picture shows girls participating in the ever popular game volleyball. Much time was spent with instruction on this game. At the near close of the season, girls who had proved capable in this sport were chosen to represent Heights at tournament games with other schools.

Marching and rhythmical exercises helped the girls in co-ordination and poise.



Archery classes ventured out-side most of the year to learn techniques of accurate shooting. In this class the girls learned of the skills needed to be a proficient archer.

yellow jacket

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF MYRNA CRAIG with her helpful crew, labored, as all staffs do, to give you a bigger and better book. The 1952 Yellow Jacket won an All-Texas Rating in the Texas High School Press Competition in Denton; likewise your 1953 Yellow Jacket will be entered there, as well as in the National Scholastic Contest in the University of Minnesota. In their effort to provide you with a pleasant book, covering all phases of AHHS life, the staff was ever ready to give their unlimited time, working early and late in assembling this year book.

CO-EDITORS ANN BRIGHTWELL and GEORGE McILHERAN have provided you with a grand array of journalistically outstanding newspapers. The Jacket Journal has won an All-Texas High School Rating in Denton, First Class in the National Scholastic Press, and individually its writers have continuously won top places in Fort Worth Press contests. It is not only the writers, but the unsung heroes—the ad-searchers, the proofreaders, the errand boys, and the constant guidance of Miss Burnett—to which the success of the JJ can be attributed. It has taken all to give you your school paper.

and so it begins . . .

Each school year begins with the mad scramble of students for favorite teachers. With over nine hundred individuals searching for the schedule that will best suit them and their friends, the teachers try in vain to please everyone.

Mirror, mirrow on the wall!
Before school these lasses prepare for classes.

You mean you want English third period, too?

Who is helping who? Ruthie and Dick?

Switch this class to that! Swithch, switch, and change!

Class conscious girls compare schedules.

Please teacher, PLEASE!

Horrors! This mad rush comes twice a year.

The first activity of school was the election of student body officers. This was completed with extensive campaigning—signs as well as speeches .The halls were filled with soap-boxes in every corner . . . and on every soap-box, a candidate!

Everyone had a favorite!

George Nelson even took RO-RO to class.

Bruce Barker, Lois Ann Barton, Bunki Brinson, Lou Stogner, Sara Watkins, and Evan Black showed their choices.

Nelson Stubblefield campaigned all day with back-boards.

Martha Leonard got on the gravy-boat.

The Brightwell signs and RO-RO balloons flooded the auditorium. The crowd roared and made their choice.
